REVISED JUNE 2006

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The June 2006 version of the Clean Air Plan reflects consultations with air quality meteorologists, residents, foresters, emission experts, local government, industry, and healthcare professionals over the last two years.

The original Plan (June 2004) was a group effort of 20 writers, prepared under a Ministry of Environment initiative beginning in November 2002. That writing team was composed of technical, medical and operational experts as well as community level representatives.

Most of the writers are local residents, and include members of the Regional Working Group and Subcommittees, Community Working Groups, the Ministry of Environment, the Facilitation team, and outside experts as required. Thank you to the many volunteers and representatives who sat on or participated in those working groups and emission-source specific forums, as well as their sponsoring employers. The Plan would not have been written without their expertise, enthusiasm and commitment to clean air.

Many thanks are also due to the individuals who take the time to offer their concerns and solutions regarding air quality in our airshed. Whether this is a five minute conversation on the street, a phone call, an e-mail, or part of a public forum, your comments and suggestions provide a direct link to the greater community in the BVL D.

As our tagline says, the Airshed Management Society is committed to offering clean air solutions we can all live with...your input will ensure we stay true to this mandate.
